INTRODUCTION

The Australian Institute of Criminology has established a national clearinghouse of criminological information to act as a central agency for the collection, storage, exchange and dissemination of bibliographical data on Australian and Australian-related criminological material.

This information is stored on computer and forms the data base of CINCH (Computerised Information from National Criminological Holdings), the Institute's computerised bibliographic service which provides rapid and comprehensive retrospective searches.

The Information Bulletin of Australian Criminology is published quarterly and is an integral part of this system, publishing in its 'Recent Publications' and 'Current and Recently Completed Research' sections all the new material which continuously updates the CINCH data base. It also contains information regarding past and forthcoming seminars in Australia, bibliographical activities of the J.V. Barry Memorial Library and generally aims to encourage a greater interchange of information between all persons interested in Australian criminology.

The success of the Information Bulletin depends to a large degree on material contributed to it by its readers, and persons who would like a statement of their research to appear or wish to publicise conferences or seminars are invited to complete the appropriate forms supplied with each issue and return them to the address below.

Readers will appreciate that the information contained in the Information Bulletin can only be as accurate and reliable as its source.

The Australian Institute of Criminology hopes that the services provided by CINCH and this Information Bulletin prove valuable to those interested in criminology and looks forward to the continued interest and assistance of its readers.

902 JUVENILE OFFENDERS

Topic: Who Offends? – A Study of Young Offenders – Their Problems and Possibilities

Auspices: Jesuit Order Catholic Church and Social Welfare Department of Victoria

Researcher: P. Norden

Address: P.O. Box 216, Hawthorn. Vic. 3122

Outline: In the twenty page illustrated booklet, welfare professionals, the staff at Four Flats, and the young offenders themselves relate, in various ways, the story of the young offenders within our community.

The booklet deals with family background, school experience, peer group interactions, and the qualities of the local neighbourhoods from which the majority of young offenders come. It focuses on the operation of the criminal justice system in relation to the families of these young people: the operation of the police force, the courts, the probation officers, the institutions, and the parole officers.

This booklet focuses on the inadequacies of our community's efforts to grapple with the problem of the 'hard-core' young offender, but more importantly focuses on the perspective of the young people themselves and the experience of a group of workers who have been closely involved with them over the last two years.

Read in conjunction with the Second Progress Report of the Four Flats Project, Who Offends? is to be seen as an attempt to develop a greater awareness within our community and within welfare professionals especially of the need for more carefully planned programmes of delinquency prevention so that the problem of the 'hard-core' highly institutionalised young offender is not perpetuated in our society.

903 PRISONERS – TREATMENT

Topic: Minimum Standards for Treatment of Federal Offenders

Auspices: Australian Law Reform Commission's Reference on Sentencing [Research paper no.2]

Researcher: Mark Richardson

Address: Australian Law Reform Commission, 99 Elizabeth Street, Sydney. N.S.W. 2000

Funding: Australian Law Reform Commission

Outline: This paper is about conditions in Australian prisons and how these affect federal prisoners. It is shown in Part One of the paper that prison conditions fall short of the standards called for in the United Nations Standard Minimum Rules for the Treatment of Prisoners. In Part Two it is argued that prison conditions should be up-graded to meet prescribed minimum standards and some mechanism should be developed to ensure that prison conditions comply with any prescribed standards.

904 PRISONERS – TREATMENT

Topic: Treatment of Victorian Prisoners: A Report on Victorian Prison Practice with Regard to the United Nations' Minimum Standard Rules and the Draft Australian Rules

Researcher: Dennis Challenger

Address: Criminology Department, University of Melbourne, Parkville Vic. 3052

Outline: A report prepared for the Hon. B.D. Dixon, Minister for Social Welfare setting out details of prison practice in Victoria as it accords with the UN Rules and the Australian guidelines. It shows the Victorian practice falls below the minimum standards with respect to accommodation and treatment of 'insane and abnormal prisoners'. Indicates that Victorian practice is not so much different from that in other instrumentalities.

905 SENTENCING

Topic: An Analysis of Penalties Provided in Commonwealth and Australian Capital Territory Legislation

Auspices: Australian Law Reform Commission's Reference on Sentencing [Research paper no.1]

Researcher: J.S. Gilchrist

Address: Australian Law Reform Commission, 99 Elizabeth Street, Sydney. N.S.W. 2000

Funding: Australian Law Reform Commission

Outline: In this paper an analysis has been made of penalties provided for offences under Commonwealth and Australian Capital Territory Law. The paper discusses the importance of setting of penalties as an indicator to courts of the legislature's attitude to the gravity of an offence and examines those offences prescribing terms of imprisonment to determine, inter alia, whether there are disparities in the penalties provided for similar conduct, whether there is a lack of consistency in the level of fines provided as an alternative to imprisonment and whether there is uniformity in the rate of imprisonment provided for default in the payment of fines. The paper also examines the nature of penalties provided for corporate offenders, the extent of penalties provided for second and subsequent offences and the extent to which the law presently imposes minimum penalties. In the concluding part of the paper proposals for reform are advanced to remedy the lack of uniformity in the substantive law.

NOTICES

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES STANDING COMMITTEE ON ABORIGINAL AFFAIRS INQUIRY INTO ABORIGINAL ACCESS TO LEGAL AID

The Minister for Aboriginal Affairs, Senator F.M. Chaney, has requested that the Committee inquire into and report on the access of Aboriginals to legal aid with particular reference to:

1. the special needs and demands of Aboriginals for legal aid;
2. the extent to which the legal needs and demands of Aboriginals are being met by Aboriginal Legal Aid Services and other legal and counselling agencies;
3. the costs and benefits (economic and social) of Aboriginal Legal Aid Services; and
4. the means of meeting the special needs and demands of Aboriginals for legal aid in the future.

As part of its inquiry the Committee will be seeking submissions from Aboriginal groups and organisations concerned with the access of Aboriginals to legal aid including the Aboriginal Legal Aid Services. It will also be inviting written submissions from representatives of Commonwealth and State Government departments, Legal Aid Commissions, Law Reform Commissions, the courts, Law Societies, University Law Faculties and others interested in the inquiry.

Some of those making submissions to the inquiry may be asked to appear before the committee at public hearings to be held later in the year to give supporting evidence to their submissions.

The Committee would be pleased to receive submissions from any other individuals or organisations interested in the access of Aboriginals to legal aid.

It would be helpful if those proposing to lodge submissions with the Committee would notify the Secretary to the Committee of their intention as soon as possible.

The Committee is aiming to complete the inquiry into the access of Aboriginals to legal aid and report to the Parliament before the end of 1979.

Inquiries and written submissions should be addressed to:

The Secretary,
House of Representatives Standing Committee on Aboriginal Affairs,
Parliament House,
Canberra. ACT. 2600
Telephone: (062) 72 6770
