As a result of the recommendations made by the Review of Commonwealth Functions, the Australian Institute of Criminology was forced to accept a reduction in staff and a degree of uncertainty about future funding.

The J.V. Barry Memorial Library has been unable to maintain the level of service provided in the past. Unfortunately, the Library staff has been unable to allocate the usual amount of time towards preparing this issue of the Information Bulletin of Australian Criminology. The sections mentioned below have been omitted from this issue.

Parliamentary Questions and Debates

J.V. Barry Memorial Library. Select List of Accessions

We will endeavour to include these sections in the next issue if the staffing situation improves.

Introduction

The Australian Institute of Criminology has established a national clearinghouse of criminological information to act as a central agency for the collection, storage, exchange and dissemination of bibliographical data on Australian and Australian-related criminological material.

This information is stored on computer and forms the data base of CINCH (Computerised Information from National Criminological Holdings), the Institute's computerised bibliographic service which provides rapid and comprehensive retrospective searches.

The Information Bulletin of Australian Criminology is published quarterly and is an integral part of this system, publishing in its 'Recent Publications' and 'Current and Recently Completed Research' sections all the new material which continuously updates the CINCH data base. It also contains information regarding past and forthcoming seminars in Australia, bibliographical activities of the J.V. Barry Memorial Library and generally aims to encourage a greater interchange of information between all persons interested in Australian criminology.

The success of the Information Bulletin depends to a large degree on material contributed to it by its readers, and persons who would like a statement of their research to appear or wish to publicise conferences or seminars are invited to complete the appropriate forms supplied with each issue and return them to the address below.

Readers will appreciate that the information contained in the Information Bulletin can only be as accurate and reliable as its source.

The Australian Institute of Criminology hopes that the services provided by CINCH and this Information Bulletin prove valuable to those interested in criminology and looks forward to the continued interest and assistance of its readers.

Current Research

671 THE EMERGENCE AND IMPACT OF THE CRIMES (TAXATION OFFENCES) ACT OF 1980

Topic: The Emergence and Impact of the Crimes (Taxation Offences) Act of 1980

Researchers: Dr Roman Tomasic and Robin Woellner

Address: Department of Legal Studies,
Kuring-Gai College of Advanced Education,
P.O. Box 222,
LINDFIELD, N.S.W. 2070.

Duration of Research: Commenced May 1981, anticipated to be completed about March 1982.

Funding: Kuring-Gai CAE

Outline: This is a sociological study of the emergence of one piece of anti-tax avoidance legislation. In a two phased project the researchers hope to isolate the key factors and actors involved in the making of the Crime (Taxation Offences) Act of 1981 with the view of casting light upon the law making process in regard to the enforcement of revenue laws. The second stage of the project will involve a preliminary attempt to assess the likely impact of this legislation. The ultimate aim of this project is to make a contribution to the use of sanctions in the white collar crime area involving professional actors.

672 CRIME TRENDS IN TWENTIETH-CENTURY AUSTRALIA

Topic: Crime Trends in Twentieth-Century Australia
Auspices: Australian Institute of Criminology
Researcher: Satyanshu K. Mukherjee
Address: Australian Institute of Criminology,
P.O. Box 28,
WODEN, A.C.T. 2606

Funding: As Above

Outline: Starting with the description of general socio-economic developments in Australia, the United States of America and the United Kingdom, the book deals with sources and limitations of crime statistics, and summarised research studies carried out elsewhere. In the socio-economic and demographic areas the research finds the Australian situation closer to the United States than to the United Kingdom. The research examines patterns of crime dealt with by the police and the magistrates' courts, offenders tried at the higher courts and the imprisonment trends. These descriptive chapters also analyse trends in the size of the police force, police to crime ratio, police expenditure and cost of maintaining prisons and prisoners. The book systematically identifies discrete periods, called environmental sets, as well as examines effects of events such as wars and economic crisis. The findings show that distinctly different crime patterns are associated with different periods and that the prevailing socio-economic climate profoundly influences the nature of the patterns.

673 SOURCE BOOK OF AUSTRALIAN CRIMINAL AND SOCIAL STATISTICS, 1900-1980

Topic: Source Book of Australian Criminal and Social Statistics, 1900-1980
Auspices: Australian Institute of Criminology
Researchers: Satyanshu K. Mukherjee, Evelyn N. Jacobsen and John R. Walker

Address: Australian Institute of Criminology,
P.O. Box 28,
WODEN, A.C.T. 2606

Funding: As Above

Outline: The volume is a compilation of criminal justice, demographic, social and economic statistics in Australia since the beginning of this century. Data included are nationwide in scope and the book places major emphasis on the series in each state and territory. The compilation is divided into nine parts representing Australia and the eight jurisdictions. Within each part, data have been organised into seven sections: General (population, male:female ratio, age structure, marriage, divorce, urbanisation, unemployment, work force, gross domestic product, housing construction, motor vehicle registration, infant mortality, life expectancy and expenditure on social services), Police, Magistrates' Courts, Higher Courts, Prisons, Drugs and Children.

674 WOMEN AND CRIME

Topic: Women and Crime

Auspices: Australian Institute of Criminology

Researchers: Satyanshu K. Mukherjee and Jocelynn A. Scutt (editors)

Address: Australian Institute of Criminology,
P.O. Box 28,
WODEN, A.C.T. 2606

Funding: As Above

Outline: The book is a collection of nine papers dealing with women and the criminal justice system, and forms the first effort to bring together original Australian material. The essays discuss legislative biases in dealing with women in modern times as well as in historical perspective, legislation and processing of girls, incidence of female criminality, women in prison and women's prisons. The essays, generally based on fact, strongly recommend that the criminal justice system, as other parts of the legal system, must rearrange itself to take into full consideration equal rights of women and their equal right to participate not only in making the law but in being properly accommodated by common law and current legislation.
